Re: Boyd Martin Construction

To Whom It May Concern:

Boyd Martin Construction has completed many construction projects for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints over the past several years. I can recommend this company to anyone with a construction project of any size. I have found them to be honest and fair, meeting or exceeding their committed deadlines and completion dates.

This company has recently completed a Chapel addition in Round Mountain, Nevada. The project was completed ahead of schedule and got the same attention in this remote location as our local project. In the last couple of years, they have also completed a full size Stake Center in downtown Henderson (24,460 square feet), and a full size Meetinghouse in Mountains Edge (16,558 square feet). They also completed a refurbishing project that included the replacing a gym floor and interior finishes while the Chapel was still being used each Sunday. They are currently working on an HVAC replacement project for the Church in Henderson. I have found Boyd Martin Construction to do a quality job, and come in within the budget and on schedule. I always invite Boyd Martin Construction to bid on any projects in Nevada.

Sincerely,

David E. Lystrup
